

POET IN A CUPCAKE DAY

Celebrate Take Your Poet To School Week
during National Poetry Month

Research a few fun facts about your favorite poet. Decorate a real or cut-out cupcake to share what you learned. Attach your poet to a popsicle stick and slide it into the frosting. Find fun cut 'n color poets for your cupcake at tweetspeakpoetry.com or make your own!

POET IN A CUPCAKE DAY IDEAS

Edgar Allan Poe Raven Cupcake

Red velvet cupcake with black frosting and fondant raven cutouts. If you ask when you can eat the cupcake, Poe will say, "Nevermore."

Emily Dickinson Recluse Cupcake

Vanilla cupcake with white frosting and white sprinkles. Emily might like to stay hiding behind the cupcake and murmur "I am nobody."

T. S. Eliot Wasteland Cupcake

Chocolate cupcake with "dirt" frosting and candy worms. Don't be surprised if the cupcake tastes a little like lilacs.

Shel Silverstein Sidewalk Cupcake

Coconut cupcake with rock candy sprinkles and a toy shovel so you can keep building "where the sidewalk ends."

Research a few fun facts about your favorite poet. Decorate a real or cut-out cupcake to share what you learned. Attach your poet to a popsicle stick and slide it into the frosting. Find fun cut 'n color poets for your cupcake at tweetspeakpoetry.com or make your own!